The car of the future becomes a reality

The changes that the automotive industry is currently experiencing were made clear at Auto Shanghai 2019. Alongside electromobility, the focus of the largest motor show in the world, which ran from April 18-25, 2019, was on connected and autonomous driving. A number of new Chinese brands made their trade fair debut alongside all the well-established manufacturers and suppliers. During the course of the eight days, almost one million visitors learned about what's new in the world of cars and about forward-thinking automotive solutions. The suppliers in particular lived up the trade fair's motto of "Create a better life" by showing what the future of cars looks like with innovative and user-friendly ideas.
